

Issue 1 (published March 2017)

Editors' choice

- María J. Aris, Jose A. Corronca, Sebastián Quinteros, and Paolo L. Pardo
A new marrellomorph euarthropod from the Early Ordovician of Argentina ..... 1–8
- Mateusz Talanda
Evolution of postcranial skeleton in worm lizards inferred from its status in the Cretaceous stem-amphisbaenian Slavioia darevskii ..... 9–23

Articles

- Rossana Sanfilippo, Antonietta Rosso, Agatino Reitano, and Gianni Insacco
First record of sabellid and serpulid polychaetes from the Permian of Sicily ..... 25–38
- Gérard Breton, Max Wisshak, Didier Néraudeau, and Nicolas Morel
Parasitic gastropod bioerosion trace fossil on Cenomanian oysters from Le Mans, France and its ichnologic and taphonomic context ..... 39–57
- Gregor Radtke and Helmut Keupp
The dorsal shell wall structure of Mesozoic ammonoids ..... 59–96
- Ervīns Lukševičs, Pavel Beznosov, and Valdemārs Stūris
A new assessment of the Late Devonian antiarchan fish Bothriolepis leptocheira from South Timan (Russia) and the biotic crisis near the Frasnian–Famennian boundary ..... 97–119
- Oleksandr M. Kovalchuk, Mark V.H. Wilson, and Terry Grande
A review of Neogene and Quaternary pikes of southeastern Europe and a new species from the early Pleistocene of Nogaïsk, Ukraine ..... 121–135
- Leslie F. Noè, Michael A. Taylor, and Marcela Gómez-Pérez
An integrated approach to understanding the role of the long neck in plesiosaurs ..... 137–162
- Manja Voss, Silvia Sorbi, and Daryl P. Domning
Morphological and systematic re-assessment of the late Oligocene “Halitherium” bellunense reveals a new crown group genus of Sirenia ..... 163–172
- Gregoire Metais, Ozan Erdal, Korhan Erturaç, and K. Christopher Beard
Tarsal morphology of the pleuraspidotheriid mammal Hilalia from the middle Eocene of Turkey ..... 173–179
- Laureano Raúl González Ruiz, Agustina Reato, Martín Cano, and Oscar Martínez
Old and new specimens of a poorly known glyptodont from the Miocene of Patagonia and their biochronological implications ..... 181–194
- Santiago Hernández Del Pino, Federico D. Seoane, and Esperanza Cerdeño
New postcranial remains of large toxodontian notoungulates from the late Oligocene of Mendoza, Argentina and their systematic implications ..... 195–210
- Ismael Miján, Stephen Louwye, and Olivier Lambert
A new Beneziphius beaked whale from the ocean floor off Galicia, Spain and biostratigraphic reassessment of the type species ..... 211–220

Brief report

- Artem Kouchinsky and Stefan Bengtson
X-ray tomographic microscopy tightens affinity of the early Cambrian Oymurania to the brachiopod stem group ..... 39–43

Issue 2 (published June 2017)

Editors' choice

- Lucio M. Ibiricu, Matthew C. Lamanna, Rubén D.F. Martínez, Gabriel A. Casal, Ignacio A. Cerda, Gastón Martínez, and Leonardo Salgado
A novel form of postcranial skeletal pneumaticity in a sauropod dinosaur: Implications for the paleobiology of Rebbachisauridae ..... 221–236

Benjamin Gügel, Kenneth De Baets, Iwan Jerjen, Philipp Schuetz, and Christian Klug

- A new subdisarticulated machaeridian from the Middle Devonian of China: Insights into taphonomy and taxonomy using X-ray microtomography and 3D-analysis . . . . . 237–247

Articles*William W. Korth

- A new tribe of castoroidine beavers from the late Arikareean to Hemphillian (Oligocene–Miocene) of western North America . . . . . 249–258

Hai-Bing Wang, Bin Bai, Yan-Xin Gong, Jin Meng, and Yuan-Qing Wang

- Reconstruction of the cranial musculature of the paraceratheriid rhinocerotoid Pappaceras meiomenus and inferences of its feeding and chewing habits . . . . . 259–271

Joseph A. Frederickson, Joshua E. Cohen, Tyler C. Hunt, and Richard L. Cifelli

- A new occurrence of Dakotasuchus kingi from the Late Cretaceous of Utah, USA, and the diagnostic utility of postcranial characters in Crocodyliformes . . . . . 279–286

Alexander O. Ivanov, Christopher J. Duffin, and Serge V. Naugolnykh

- A new euselachian shark from the early Permian of the Middle Urals, Russia . . . . . 289–298

Yamouna Makhlof, Bertrand Lefebvre, Elise Nardin, Ahmed Nedjari, and Christopher R.C. Paul

- The diploporite blastozoan Lepidocalix pulcher from the Middle Ordovician of northern Algeria: Taxonomic revision and palaeoecological implications . . . . . 299–310

Artem Kouchinsky, Stefan Bengtson, Ed Landing, Michael Steiner, Michael Vendrasco, and Karen Ziegler

- Terreneuvian stratigraphy and faunas from the Anabar Uplift, Siberia . . . . . 311–440

Brief report*Andrea Cau and Paolo Serventi

- Origin attachments of the caudofemoralis longus muscle in the Jurassic dinosaur Allosaurus . . . . . 273–277

Discussion*Joachim Szulc, Grzegorz Racki, and Adam Bodzioch

- Comment on “An early Late Triassic long-necked reptile with a bony pectoral shield and gracile appendages” by Jerzy Dzik and Tomasz Sulej . . . . . 287–288

Issue 3 (published September 2017)*Editors' choice*Blair W. McPhee, Emese M. Bordy, Lara Sciscio, and Jonah N. Choiniere

- The sauropodomorph biostratigraphy of the Elliot Formation of southern Africa: Tracking the evolution of Sauropodomorpha across the Triassic–Jurassic boundary . . . . . 441–465

Roberto Pronzato, Andrzej Pisera, and Renata Manconi

- Fossil freshwater sponges: Taxonomy, geographic distribution, and critical review . . . . . 467–495

Articles*Leonardo M. Carneiro and Édison Vicente Oliveira

- The Eocene South American metatherian Zeusdelphys complicatus is not a protodidelphid but a hatcheriform: Paleobiogeographic implications . . . . . 497–507

Hendrik Jan Van Vliet, Anne S. Schulp, Gebely A.M.M. Abu El-Kheir, Theo M. Pajmans, Mark Bosselaers, and Charles J. Underwood

- A new Oligocene site with terrestrial mammals and a selachian fauna from Minqar Tibaghbagh, the Western Desert of Egypt . . . . . 509–525

Agustín G. Martinelli, Marina Bento Soares, Téo Veiga de Oliveira, Pablo G. Rodrigues, and Cesar L. Schultz

- The Triassic eucynodont Candelariodon barberenai revisited and the early diversity of stem prozostroodontians . . . . . 527–542

Federico Brissón Egli, Alexis M. Aranciaga Rolando, Federico L. Agnolín, and Fernando E. Novas

- Osteology of the unenlagiid theropod Neuquenraptor argentinus from the Late Cretaceous of Patagonia . . . . . 549–562

Samuel L. Tutin and Richard J. Butler

- The completeness of the fossil record of plesiosaurs, marine reptiles from the Mesozoic . . . . . 563–573
